GLADSTONE'S POWER

Will It Be Strong Enough to Carry Home Rule?

PUTTING DOWN THE IDAHO RIOTERS.

Republican Leaders Meet in New York.

OTHER TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

PROSPECTS OF HOME RULE. Its Future Does Not Seem Assured Be

LONDON, July 16.-The question now troub ling the liberal leaders is how far the Parnellite and labor members will go in support of Mr. Gladstone. The Parnellites hate the liberal leader more ardently than they do the tories, and there is hardly a doubt that they would sooner see home rule defeated than accept it at his hands. The prospect of a home rule measure fashioned by Mr. Gladstone, Healy and McCarthy is something they cannot tolerate, and the conservatives and liberal unionists will probably have at least the secret sympathy, and, as far as possible, the active co-op of the Parnellites.

As for the labor members, they profess com-

As for the labor members, they profess complete independence, and while they are presumably not opposed to Irish home rule, there is no reason whatever for assuming that they will go out of their way to forward it. Besides, a large number of the straight liberals gave but faint support to home rule in their election addresses, and may conclude to show a good deal of independence as to the details of a home rule bill.

There being no party convention system in Great Britain the candidates stand each upon his election address, and while party allegiance is strong a member always has the right, if he chooses, of falling back upon the platter of principles which he laid down for himself when he offered himself as a candidate. A careful examination of the election addresses of the liberal candidates throughout England shows that home rule was ignored in several instances and was made prominent in comparatively few instances.

castle program sustains home rule for Ireland, and that the Newcastle gathering was supposed to voice the liberal sentiment of the country. But the British rule as to candidates being bound by their own personal declarations is as yet too powerful to be affected by any assump-tion that the Newcastle program took pre-cedence of such declarations. At an early hour this afternoon the election returns showed only one seat gained by the liberals. This was in the south division of Linnshire, where in the general election of 1886

Mr. A. R. Heath, conservative, was returned without opposition. Mr. Heath contested the district this year, but Mr. Perks, his liberal opponent, was elected by a majority of 839. JUSTIN M'CARTHY GETS A BEAT. Mr. Justin McCarthy, the leader of the anti-Parnellites, who was defeated in Londonderry opponent, Mr. J. M. Wilson, by a majority of 2,458.

Sir Wilfred Lawson, who is an advanced radical who favors the disestablishment of the church, the abolition of the house of lords and the doing away with standing armies, has been elected in the Cockemouth division of Cumberland, which he lost in the election of 1885 by a majority of ten votes, but which standing as a Gladstonian liberal he carried in 1886. Sir Wilfred is well those and as leader of the United Kingdom Alliance.

1.75 known for his devolution to the temperance cause and as leader of the United Kingdom Alliance. He has been in parliament off and on since 1859. In March, 1864, he asked for permission to introduce the measure now so well known as the permissive bill, the main principle of which was the giving to two-thirds of any parish or township an absolute veto upon all licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquors granted within districts. The bill was supported by forty members of the house. On June 18, 1880, Sir Wilfred succeeded in carrying his "local option" resolution by a majority of twenty-six. Baron Ferdinand James De Rothschild, liberal unionist, who has represented the Ayles-bury division of Buckinghalmshire since 1885, has again been returned by his constituents in that district.

LATE BETURNS. At 2:30 o'clock the returns show the election of 265 conservatives, 45 liberal unionists, 262 liberals, 64 anti-Parnellites, 9 Parnellites and 3 laborists.
This gives the government 310 members and the opposition 338.

Out of the twenty-two seats remaining to complete the house sixteen are likely to fall to the opposition and six to the unionists.

THE NEXT HOUSE OF COMMONS. The house of commons will thus finally consist of 316 unionists against 354 members of the liberal sections. The liberals though confronted by the fact that a considerable majority of the British members are still unionists con-tend that Mr. Gladstons had the absolute right by law and precedent to carry his home rule measure by Irish votes alone.

The tone of the liberal executive today is entirely altered regarding the proposed delay in the home rule bill, probably inspired by com-munications they have received. They now assert that Mr. Gladstone will have the full apassert that Mr. Gladstone will have the full ap-proval of the party in expediting home rule. The Times holds that the unionists are amply strong enough to prevent Mr. Gladstone from carrying a revolutionary measure and can afford to wait until his intercogeneous following is dis-solved by internal conflicts and rivalries and solved by internal conflicts and rivalries and until the incompetency of the ministers, crippled by every variety of impracticable promise, has been exhibited to the world.

Mr. Gladstone, the Times continues, now depends upon the Irish. Not being members of his party they will not obey his whips. Nine Parnellites will be sufficient to prevent transactions between the Gladstonians and anti-partylities. actions between the Gladstonians and apti-Parnellites, who, obliged to maintain their independence of all English parties, will be forced to refuse any-thing short of Parnell's home rule, which, if Mr. Gladstone ventured to propose, would break up the English liberals.

The Times confirms the information already cabled by the representative of the Associated Press that Lord Salisbury will not resign until the debate at the opening of parliamen pels Mr. Gladstone to disclose his policy.

Wallace is quiet and to all appearances will remain so. The arrival of troops has not had the effect of subduing the union men, but the fears of the citizens have been allayed. There are nearly 1,000 troops in Cœur d'Alene. About 100 soldiers were sent out into the mountains around Wardner and Wallace last night to look out for meetings of union men. About fifty citizens of Wallace and Wardner, who have taken sides with the non-union men, have been ordered to leave. T. E. Harris, who keeps a slaughter house near Wallace, was ordered out under penalty of having file property blown into atoms. Harris told the union's committee that he would not leave and would fight for his rights.

Notwithstanding the presence of the troops the strikers continue to make their presence felt. Newspaper correspondents are particularly objectionable to them. Henry Clews' Weekly Financial Review, issued today, says: The situation in Wali street is unusually devoid of features of active interest. The two sides to speculation appear to be so evenly balanced as to force an advantage that neither one cares to undertake any movements of importance.

The impression appears to be very general-and we think the event is likely to show that it is well founded—that the series of reactionary influences which set in with the Barings susinfluences which set in with the Barings suppension have now, after an interval of about two years, worked out their worst results, and that henceforth whatever changes may arise in the general situation are likely to be for the better. Indeed already traces of steady recovery are apparent both in the old world and the new. Though capital is still cautious, yet it begins to show anxiety for employment.

The symptoms warrant the hope of a steady recovery of trade and finance in the nations of the world. Under the general conditions above cited, and in view of a clearer ascertainment of the results of the harvest—which still remain a ate Today.

GENERAL AMNESTY

SENATOR DANIEL'S AMENDMENT

To Remove all Political Disabilities Finally Withdrawn.

THE WORLD'S FAIR CLAUSES

In the Sundry Civil Bill Debated in the House.

THE SENATE.

The president pro tem. (Mr. Manderson) pre sented resolutions of the second mining congress, in session at Helena, Mont., (transgress, in session at Helena, Mont., (transmitted by telegraph) urging the defeat of the free lead ore bill, as its passage would result in closing down many silver mines. Referred.

Mr. Jones (Nev.), from the committee on contingent expenses, reported back a resolution, which was agreed to, instructing the committee on immigration to inquire into the working of the laws on the subject of immigration from foreign counties, the importation of working of the laws on the subject of immigra-tion from foreign counties, the importation of contract labor and the laws and prevailing methods of naturalization since the year 1890. The House bill providing when a plaintiff may sue as a poor person and when counsel shall be assigned by the court was taken from the calendar and passed.

TO REMOVE MR. WALKER'S DISABILITIES. Mr. Teller, from the committee on the judiciary, reported the Senate bill relieving from all political disabilities under the fourteenth mendment of the Constitution William S. Walker of Atlanta, Ga. Mr. Daniel moved as an amendment to add the words "and all other persons." He thought that after twenty-five years it was time to have a general amnesty and wiping out of all the Mr. Teller thought it best not to have that amendment offered, as it would probably bring up some discussion and endanger the bill.

Mr. Daniel—If any Senator objects to it I do ot wish to press it.

Mr. Teller – I think the amendment had better ome as a separate bill. If the Senator will in-roduce a bill of that kind, I am willing to support it.

Mr. Daniel—I have already introduced a bill of that kind, and I have heard guch general expressions of favor about it that I anticipated that there would be no objection to the adoption of that principle at any time. If there is any objection to it by any Senator I shall not

Mr. Platt remarked that such cases prese

Mr. Platt remarked that such cases presented different states of facts and should be acted upon separately. He should be very sorry to have the question brought up now. It should be done by general bill, not by an amendment to a private bill.

Mr. Daniel withdrew the amendment and the bill was passed. PLACED ON THE CALENDAR.

The following bills were reported from committees and placed on the calendar: House bill extending to the port of Dunkirk, N. Y., the privileges of the law as to the immediate transportation of dutiable goods.

Senate bill appropriating 275,000 for a public building at East St. Louis, Ill. Senate bill to remit penalties on gunboat No. 8 (the Concord) and gunboat No. 4 (the Ben-

Mr. Carey asked unanimous consent to have the bill authorizing the Court of Claims to hear and determine suits against the United States for wages claimed to be due under the eightfor wages claimed to be due under the eight-hour law, notwithstanding the statute of lim-itations, taken from the calendar and passed.

Mr. Call objected to the passage without dis-cussion of a bill involving a great many million dollars and subject to very many objections.

The bill was not taken up.

THE GENERAL DEFICIENCY BILL UP. The general deficiency bill was taken up at 2 m. and committee amendments were acted

The Speaker having laid before the House the House bill extending for one year the time with which the Metropolitan Railroad Company of the District of Columbia may change its motive power with Senate amendments thereto, Mr. Heard (Mo.) moved that the House non-concur in the amendment which strikes out the clause permitting the company to use the trolley system.

Mr. Washington moved to refer the bill to the committee on the District of Columbia.

THE FORTIFICATION BILL. The Senate amendments to the fortification appropriation bill were non-concurred in and a conference ordered. On motion of Mr. Dingley (Me.) the Senate bill was passed extending the provisions of the act for the immediate transportation of dutiable goods to the ports of Bangor and Vanceboro, Me.

PRIVATE PENSION BILLS. The House then proceeded to the consid tion of a number of private pension bills which came over from last night with the previous question ordered.

Sixty-four private pension bills were passed and then the House, on motion of Mr. Holman went into committee of the whole, Mr. Lester (Ga.) in the chair, on the Sanate amendments to the grant of the chair. the sundry civil appropriation bill. SUNDAY AND THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Mr. Taylor (Ill.) offered an amendment which he said he would hereafter call up providing

he said he would hereafter call up providing that if the exposition be kept open on Sunday no machinery shall be run nor any labor not absolutely necessary performed and that a hall shall be provided for the conduct of religious services by ministers of all denominations.

Mr. Wheeler (Ala.) resumed his remarks of yesterday. He was against the proposed appropriation, but spent most of his time in attacking the national bank system and advocating the grant to the states of the right to issue more.

Mr. Burrows (Mich.) interrupting him, he retorted that the gentleman lived in a wild-cat country, but the whole country was not so, and New York, South Carolina and Alabama had better state banking systems than the present national bank system.

DISTRICT IN CONGRESS.

nts of Local Interest to the Gen The Senate this afternoon, in considering the deficiency bill, agreed without debate to a number of Senate amendments in regard to District items in the bill. The first amendment provided $4,000 for sprinkling, sweeping ment provided $4,000 for sprinkling, sweeping and cleaning streets, avenues, alleys and suburban streets. Another amendment appropriated $2,300 for permanent fixtures in the High School building on Capitol Hill. Another appropriated $1,275 for the female work house at Washington Asylum. The appropriation for rent, fuel and so forth for the militia was made $2,425 instead of $2,600, while a new paragraph was added as follows:

"For printing and stationery, $250, and for this purpose the additional sum of $140 shall be transferred from the appropriations for the expenses of drills and parades, and the sum of $60 from the appropriation for expenses of rifle practice for the fiscal year 1892."

CHINESE JUSTICE.

stern Dealings Held to Be Necessary by the Government of That Country.

The "marrying in" of sons and "marrying out" of daughters gives rise to the great clans who all bear one name and follow one line of trade. They make up the villages usually, and sometimes compose whole towns and not infrequently become notorious for their lawlessness and depredations. Almost every district has its "Olive" or "Gold" clan, which names are as common as Smith and Jones are with us. The government takes this clan system into consideration in a curious way in dealing with criminals. There is no detective system in Chins and it would become a rather puzzling affair to hunt out an individual in a whole viltheir houses being burned and their crops destroyed, even though the offense has been but a petty theft. When the line of telegraph was run from Pekin to Canton the people of the turbulent Hunan province, believing that the poles interfered with the "sacred influence of the elements" went out in convenies and an poles interfered with the "sacred influence of the elements," went out in companies and cut them down. "I have no doubt that circumsta wears upon his breast the cross of St. George, the highest order that can be conferred in Russia, for an act of daring bravery which signalized his debut in the war of 1877 between Russia and Turkey. The Russian army was preparing to cross the Danube on pontoons when two Turkish monitors.

will doubtless be our last."

The Turks were assounded at the approach of the little craft and sent a perfect shower of shot at it: but, fearing to be blown to pieces, they quickly steamed back, leaving the Russians to cross the river unmolested. The Schutks, having accomplished her mission, brought back Lieut. Skridloff with four serious wounds. He was the first man wounded in the contraction. was the first man wounded in the campaign.

This act of bravery won for the young man a This act of bravery won for the young man a rapid promotion. In 1887 he was captain of the Strelok, a war ship of 1,500 tons. He was cruising in the Atlantic during the Afghanistan difficulty. It will be remembered that the Russian General Komaroff fortified the strategic line of the river Kouschka, thus threatening the English in India. A war rumor passed over Europe. The English government instructed the ambassador at St. Petersburg to obtain from the czar a refusal to sanction the action of Komaroff, under a penalty of a rupture of all amicable negotiations. Alexander III was not intimidated, and his bold reply was that Komaroff had acted under his orders. Everybody expected a declaration of war. Charged with a secret mission for the United States. Skridloff was followed by an English vessel of a tonnage double the size of that of his cruiser, and the big Britisher was commanded by Capt. Hand.

by Capt. Hand.

When anchored in the harbor of Newport Skridloff resolved to escape from the Englishman, and this is the way he managed it. It was saturday, and a performance was to take place at the theater in the evening. In the afternoon Skridloff ordered all the linen of his sailors to be hung out on the yardarms, as is the custom on wach days. He himself went ashore and proceeded to the theater, accompanied by a number of his officers. At the close of the performance he invited the actresses and Capt. Hand to supper. The invitation was accepted. Toward midnight, leaving his cap and parade saber in view, he made an excuse for a temporary absence from the dining room. But he didn't come back. He quickly boarded his vestel, weighed anchor and escaped, and Capt. Hand was afterward court-martialed.

During the same cruise the Strelck put into San Domingo, where Capt. Skridloff sent two officers ashore to get news from the continent. The Haytians, doubtless under the advice of the English consul, arrested the Russian officers. After several hours of waiting the captain himself went ashore and demanded the immediate release of his officers as well as a written apology duly signed; otherwise he would have the place bombarded at once. In order to have no mistake about the things he had given orders to his second officer to open fire at a signal from his hand. The Haytians yielded, and Skridloff recorded the document in which these facts were related at the English consults.

Justice is no hair-splitting affair in China.
Petty offenses are punished by the stocks ordinarily and graver crimes by flogging, slicing and beheading, but the dealing out of punishments is left largely to the discretion of the magistrates and in some unruly districts criminals of all grades are beheaded promiscuously. The economical spirit of the people forbids long imprisonments and corporal punishment is deemed cheaper and more effective. The slicing process is explained in the following extract from the North China Daily News of March 27, 1892: March 27, 1892:

that if the exposition be kept open on Sunday no machinery shall be run nor any labor not absolutely necessary performed and that a hall shall be provided for the conduct of religious services by ministers of all denominations.

Mr. Wheeler (Ala.) resumed his remarks of yesterday. He was against the proposed appropriation, but spent most of his time in attacking the national bank system and advocating the grant to the states of the right to issue more.

This driveway, said Mr. Gorman, was the main artery for residents of Maryland wishing to structed as possible.

Mr. McMillan said he would not object to such an amendment and said he would offer an amendment to that effect.

Mr. McMillan then offered an amendment, which Mr. Gorman seemed to think met his objection, but which really did not apply to his criticism, which referred to the continuation of the road from Brightwood to Silver Spring.
